ORPHEUM THEATRE OPENED WEDNESDAY

Mr. P. Ubertino opened his new picture house, the Orpheum Theatre, on Wednesday last, giving a five performance to children in the afternoon and there was not a vacant seat in the house, which means that practically five hundred children took advantage of Mr. Ubertino's kind invitation to see a free show. It was a scream, too, for not one child in the entire bunch occupied a whole seat, for they could get a much better view from the edge of the seat, and their shrill cries during the comedy feature nearly raised the roof.

In the evening the elders of Blairmore were present to witness the release of a first-class film entitled "3 Gold Coins," by Tom Mix. This was the first showing of the picture and it was an extraordinarily good one. The comic feature also took well with the packed audience.

Rev. W. Walker was called upon by Mr. Ubertino to deliver a short opening address. Rev. Walker first called upon the audience to sing "God Save the King," and then made a few very fitting remarks on the benefits of a good theatre both from an educational and entertainment point of view.

Mr. Ubertino has spared neither cost, time nor money, to make the Orpheum the most up-to-date, comfortable and convenient theatre in the Pass, and it is the general opinion now that he has succeeded. There is plenty of room in the aisles, and the seats do not get cramped between the seats, there is an abundance of ventilation, and in fact it is a picture-house-spectacle, which can be compared with any city theatre. Another pleasing feature of attending the Orpheum is the continuous show, as Mr. Ubertino has two machines and not a break occurs in the entire program.

The Blairmore four-piece orchestra was in attendance and helped considerably to enliven the proceedings. As well as keep the place from being in an uproar before the performance.

DR. STONE'S BODY RECOVERED

The body of Dr. Stone, president of Purdue university, Indiana, who fell to his death while ascending Mt. Banfi, in the Rocky mountains near Banff, on July 10, has just been recovered in a crevasse some 800 feet below the side of the peak from where he lost his footing on July 10. The body was in a remarkably good state of preservation when found, according to advices from Banff, he had been buried near the foot of the mountain by his training club. He has been making regular trips to Banff and vicinity for the past fifteen years and was an enthusiastic and well-informed mountaineer. The body was recovered on a narrow ledge for eight days after her husband's death, is recovering.

HARVESTING HAS STARTED

According to the Lethbridge Herald's crop report for the current week, wheat harvesting has already begun in many districts in Southern Alberta. In the Taber district where hot winds prevailed the latter part of June, the wheat is discouragingly late in the milk stage. Wheat is running as high as 22 bushels per acre. In the Cardston district some wheat crops are yielding as high as 35 bushels. The crop throughout all of southern Alberta is very light except upon the irrigated land and will be cut for feed in most instances. The wheat and grain crops which had been almost abandoned will now return fair yields.

FORTY-EIGHT LOST ON COAST STEAMER

Forty-eight lives were lost when the coast steamer "Alaska" foundered and sank on Blunt's Reef off Ecuador, California, last Saturday night. The steamer "Anyox" of Vancouver when five miles away caught the S.O.S. calls of the "Alaska," but when she reached the scene the unfortunate vessel had been split in two by a boiler explosion and while heavy seas were running the "Anyox" rescued 100 survivors. Forty eight are supposed to have perished, this number of bodies having been recovered.

ANOTHER STEAMER AGROUND

Another Pacific coast steamer, the San Jose, which left Salina Cruz, Mexico, August 1, for San Francisco, is reported aground on San Pablo reef, 100 miles south of San Diego. She carried 33 passengers and a crew of 66, and is a vessel of 2200 tons. It is thought she will be floated before breaking up. BLAIRMORE — ALBERTA

Oh, Money!

ELEANOR H. PORTER

"Oh, it's only Mr. Smith!" With a look very like annoyance Mrs. Blaisdell advanced and held out her hand. She looked pale, and her hair hung a bit untidily about one ear below a somewhat twisted pyramid of puffs. Her dress, though manifestly an expensive one, showed haste in its fastenings. "Yes, I heard voices, and I thought some one had come—a caller. So I came down."

"I'm glad if you're better," smiled Miss Maggie. "Then way I give you don't mind. Mr. Smith has come to ask you some questions, Hattie Goodbody!" With a look very like a smile and a nod to Mr. Smith, she disappeared into the house. A minute later Mr. Smith returned, carrying down a side path to the street.

"You called to ask some questions?" Mrs. Blaisdell said languidly into a chair.

"About the Blaisdell family—yes. But perhaps another day, when you are feeling better, Mrs. Blaisdell."

"Oh, no." She smiled a little more cordially. "I can answer to-day as well as any time—though I'm not sure I can tell you very much, ever. I think it's fine you are making the book, though. I don't give you family such a standing, to be written up like that. Don't you think so? And the Blaisdell family is really a nice family—one of the oldest in Hillerton, though, of course, they haven't much money."

"I ought to find a good deal of material here, then, if they have lived here so long."

"Yes, I suppose so. Now, what can I tell you? Of course I can tell you about my own family. My husband is in the real estate business. You know that, didn't you? Perhaps you see 'The Real Estate Journal.' His picture was in it a year ago last June. There was a write-up on Hillerton. I was in it, too, though there wasn't much about me, but I've got other clippings with more, if you'd like to see them—where I've poured, and been hostess, and all that, you know."

Mr. Smith took out his notebook and pencil.

"Let me see, Mrs. Blaisdell, your husband's father's name was Rufus, I believe. What was his mother's maiden name, please?"

"His mother's maiden name? Oh, 'Elizabeth.' Our little girl is named for her—Bessie, you know—you saw her last night. Jim wanted to, so I let him. It's a lovely name. Elizabeth—still, it sounds a little old-fashioned now, don't you think? Of course we are anxious to have everything just right for our daughter. A young lady soon coming out, so—you can't be too particular. That's one reason why I wanted to get over here—on the West Side, I mean. Everybody who is anybody lives on the West Side in Hillerton. You'll soon find that out."

"No doubt, no doubt! And your mother Blaisdell's surname?" Mr. Smith's pencil was poised over the open notebook.

"Surname? Mother Blaisdell's? Oh, before she was married, I see. But, dear me, I don't know. I suppose Jim will, or Flora, or maybe Frank—though I don't believe he will, unless her folks kept groceries. Did you ever see anything like that? I don't know anything but groceries like Frank Blaisdell!" The lady sighed and shrugged her heavy shoulders with an expressive glance.

Mr. Smith smiled understandingly. "Oh, well, it's good—to be interested in one's business, isn't it?"

"But such a business!" murmured the lady, with another shrug.

"Then you can't tell me Mr. Rufus Blaisdell's surname?"

"No. But Jim—Oh, I'll tell you who will know," she broke off interestedly, "and that's Mother. Duff. You saw her here a few minutes ago, you know. Father Duff's got all of Mother Blaisdell's papers and diaries. Oh, Maggie can tell you a lot of things. Poor Maggie! Benny says if we want anything we ask Aunt Maggie, and I don't know but she's right. And here I am, sending you to her, so soon!"

"Very well, then," smiled Mr. Smith. "I don't see what I shall have to interview Miss Maggie, and Miss Flora. Is there nothing more, then, that you can tell me?"

"Well, there's Fred, you know. You haven't seen him yet? We're very proud of Fred. He's at the head of his class, and he's going to college and be a lawyer. And that's another reason why I wanted to come over to this side—on Fred's account. I want him to meet the right sort of people. You know it helps so much! We think we're going to have Fred a big man some day."

"And he was born, when?" Mr. Smith's pencil was still poised above an almost entirely blank page.

"He's seventeen. He'll be eight the tenth of next month."

"And Miss Bessie, and Mr. Rufus?"

"Oh, she's sixteen. She'll be seventeen next winter. She wants to come out then, but I think I shall wait a little, she's so very young; though Gussie Pennocks' out, and she's only seven years old. They're some of our very best people. They're the richest folks in town."

"And Benny was born—when?"

"He's eight—or rather nine, next Tuesday. Dear me, Mr. Smith, don't you want anything but dates? They're tiresome things, I think—make one feel so old, you know, and it shows up how many years you've been married. Don't you think so? But maybe you're a bachelor."

"Yes, I'm a bachelor. 'Are you, indeed?' Well, you miss a lot of course—home and wife and children. Still, you can get things. You don't get down, and you don't have so much to worry about. Is your mother living, or your father?"

"No, I have no near relatives. Mr. Smith stirred a little uneasily, and adjusted his book. 'Perhaps, now Mrs. Blaisdell, you can give me your own maiden name.'

"Oh, yes, I can give that." She laughed and bridled self-consciously.

"But you needn't ask when I was born, for I shan't tell you, if you do. My name was Hattie, you know."

"Harriet, I presume." Mr. Smith's pencil was busy at work.

"Yes—Harriet. Snow. And the Snows were just as good as the Blaisdells, if I do say it. There were a lot of them."

"I don't want to—oh, I was pretty then, Mr. Smith." She laughed, and bridled again self-consciously.

"But I took him. He was handsome then, very handsome, and dark hair, and so dreamy and poetical-looking; and there wasn't a girl that didn't set her eyes on him. And he never got over his husband to me. To be sure, he isn't quite so ambitious as he might be, but he's always did better in his line, somebody, and getting some where. 'Don't you?' But Jim—the other one—well, he's a different matter."

"Not to day, thank you. At his office, some time, I'll see Mr. Blaisdell. He'll be glad to see me, I hope. 'But I thank you very much, Mrs. Blaisdell,' he bowed in farewell."

CHAPTER V.

In Miss Flora's Album.

It was the next afternoon that Mr. Smith inquired his way to the home of Miss Flora Blaisdell. He found it to be a shabby little cottage on a side street. Miss Flora herself answered his knock, peering at him anxiously with her near-sighted eyes.

"Mr. Smith, I'll tell you, I'm glad to see you. Good-afternoon, Miss Blaisdell," he began with a deferential bow. "I am wondering if you could tell me something of your father's family."

Miss Flora, plainly pleased, but flustered, stepped back for him to enter.

"Oh, Mr. Smith, come in, come in! I'm sure I'm glad to tell you anything I know," she beamed, ushering him into the unmistakably little-used "front room."

"But you really ought to go to Maggie. I'll tell you some things, but Maggie's got the Bible. Mother had it, you know, and it's all around her. And of course she had to let it stay, as long as Father Duff lives. He doesn't want to give it up, you know. But I've got some things. 'Ve got pictures of a lot of them, here, and then I know quite a lot about it."

As she spoke she picked up from the table a little red photograph album. Seating herself at his side she opened it, and began to tell him of her father's family.

"She did, indeed, know 'quite a lot' of you, of them. Types, portraying stilly heads and staring eyes, ghostly reproductions of degrees of types of stern-faced men and women, in old-time stock and kerchiefs; photographs of stiller and grayer after the 'he-is-me-and-I-am-his' variety; snapshots of adorable babies with blurred thumbs and noses—after had Mr. John Smith seen their like before."

Politely he listened. Busily, from time to time, he jotted down a name or date. Then, suddenly, as she turned a page, he gave an involuntary start. He was looking at a picture, face, evidently cut from a magazine.

"Why, what—who?" he stammered. "That? Oh, that's Mr. Fulton, the millionaire, you know. Miss Flora's hands fluttered over the page a little importantly, adjusting a corner of the picture. 'You must have seen his picture. It's been everywhere. He's our cousin, too.'"

"Oh, he?"

"I can't tell you just how, only I know he is. His mother was a Blaisdell. That's why I've always been so interested in him, and read everything I could—in the papers and magazines, you know."

"Oh, I see." Mr. John Smith's voice had become a little uncertain. "Yes. He isn't very handsome, is he?" Miss Flora's eyes were mischievously fixed on the picture before her, which was, well, perhaps, Mr. John Smith's face was a study just then.

"Er—no, no, he isn't!"

"But he's terribly rich, I suppose. I wonder how it feels to have so much money."

There being no reply to this, Miss Flora went on after a moment.

"It must be awful nice—to buy what you want, I mean, without fretting about how much it costs. I never did. But I'd like to."

"What would you do—if you could—just had the money, I mean?" queried Mr. Smith, almost eagerly. Miss Flora laughed.

"Well, there's the things I know I'd do. They're silly, of course, but they're what I want. It's a photograph, and to the Niagara Falls, and to go into No. 1 restaurant and order what I want without even looking at the prices after it. Now you're laughing at me!"

"Laughing? Not a bit. Her face looked suddenly puffed and odd."

"I shan't. I couldn't, you know. Why, if I had the money, I shouldn't spend it—not for them things. I'd be needing shoes or a new dress, or I couldn't be so rich I wouldn't need them, but the prices was—of what I ate. Then, I don't believe I'd have any, that, not even him." She pointed to the picture still open before her.

"No?" Mr. Smith, his eyes bent upon the picture, was looking thoughtful. He had the air of a man to whom he saw a brand-new something, something new.

Miss Flora, glancing from the man to the picture, and back again, gave a sudden exclamation.

"There, now, I know who it is that you remind me of, Mr. Smith. It's him—Mr. Fulton."

"Er—what?" Mr. Smith looked not a little startled.

"Something about the eyes and nose," Miss Flora was still interestedly comparing the man and the picture.

"To be sure, I have never seen him. Didn't you say you was a Blaisdell?"

Camera Used — To Detect Forgery

Few people are aware that in detecting forgeries the camera plays a highly important part.

The photographic record, duly enlarged, shows the smallest inaccuracies—"spots" in the ink, irregularities in the strokes, and a hundred and one other imperfections of the kind.

The best advice that can be given to those whose signatures are likely to be appended to important documents is that they should adopt a plain straightforward form.

The down strokes should not be made too thick and the name should always be written in full. "J. Jones" is obviously easier to forge than "John Thomas Jones" or "John Jones."

And in signing a document that is likely to be questioned later on do so if possible when you are feeling "fit." Very few people realize the extent to which health is reflected in handwriting.

In one case two signatures, supposed to be by the same person, were so dissimilar that one was thought to be a sham attempt at forgery. Yet, as the expert was able to prove, both were written by the same man, the man when he was in perfect health and the other when he was ill.

The difference in the signatures actually resulted in his losing property of considerable value.

Turkish Joan of Arc

Leads Fighting Sisters and Believes She Is Inspired.

A Turkish Joan of Arc, Aishe Hanum, has started a woman's fighting brigade against the Greeks. Her organization, called the Kadin Brigades, has already taken part in active fighting and she is constantly enrolling new recruits.

This is the first time in Turkish history that a woman has been so militantly active. She has been dubbed by the people of Anatolia, "The Conqueror." Her personality is in distinct contrast to the beautiful Halide Edin Hanum, the writer and graduate of the American Constantinople College, who has been so active in Nationalist politics for two years and has been in prison in March, 1920, escape imprisonment by the Allies.

Aishe Hanum is a stern, dark woman of the soil, aged 52, who sees visions and believes she is inspired by the Prophet. She wears a veil but has cast off the Turkish headscarf and when not at the front goes through the villages accompanied by her fifteen-year-old son urging the peasants to contribute food and money and their able-bodied women to cast out the enemy stranger from the homeland. As Nationalist soldiers the uniform of the Kadin Brigade corresponds to that of its leader.

Indirectly Aishe Hanum is doing as much as Halide Hanum to emancipate the Turkish women. When she began her work the Turkish men, who dislike to have women interfere in politics, tried to force her to return to her farm. But, by the courage born of her visions Aishe Hanum has continued until she is recognized as an aid to the Nationalist cause.

Justice Is The Strength Of Law

Credit Due to English People's Obedience to Authority.

The Amir of Katsina, with his wives, sons and followers, has just been profoundly impressed by the power of the point duty policeman in Manchester, which he thought the most wonderful thing he had ever seen.

To be able to stop half a mile of traffic by the lifting of a hand!

This autonomy of the policeman never fails to magnetize foreign politicians who visit us. And yet the power which he is renowned and feared to exercise is the hand of the blue-clad person of the constable.

The credit is due to the English people's obedience to authority, to the law behind that authority, and to the fact that he recognizes as the justice behind the law—Vexatus in Sunday Chronicle, London.

New Battleships

Naval Situation Justifies Britain in Plans For Building.

The British Government has not changed its plan to build four new battleships. The arranging of the "disarmament" conference will not, according to Premier Lloyd George, interfere with their construction. No one knowing the naval situation will be surprised at the government's attitude.

The United States and Japan are not altering their naval construction programs because of the conference, and the British navy will be much under the one-power standard in 1924 unless the new ships are built.

The Old Lady's Peas

Orville Wright was talking at a Dayton dinner about the new Caproni biplane which carries 100 passengers. "What will the scientists say now?" he laughed. "When my brother and I were trying to fly, scientists proved time after time that flight was impossible to man. Afterwards, when flying was actually accomplished, they proved that airplanes would never be more than dangerous toys; big, stable ones couldn't be made; they'd be too heavy to rise. Those scientists were like the old lady who was taken to see the first trolley car to start in her village. She looked at the car and sniffed: 'I'll never go.' But the car did go. It went beautifully. Then the old lady, staring after it, shrieked: 'I'll never stop!'"

Says Russia Needs Soap.

"Lief! Every one in Russia is full of it. The most pressing need of Russia is not locomotives, but ten million tons of soap." So writes an American correspondent, recently freed from Russian prisons, where his experiences draw from him the statement that the most cruel and inhuman act of the Bolshevik regime is not the spectacular acts of Red terror here and there, but the chaining up of thousands of Russians in steel and all over Russia and denying them food and ordinary comforts.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA? Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. BRIEF ALBERTA NEWS

Premier-designate Greenfield has selected his cabinet, and announced that he will make the names known publicly on August 11th.

Under the Dominion Agricultural Education act, the province of Alberta will receive, for the fiscal year of 1921-22, the sum of $25,963.52, as a grant for agricultural purposes. The Labor party of Edmonton is expecting the election of the five Liberals recently elected in the Edmonton city riding. It is charged by the Labor party that Stewart McVern, at forces recently brought in several hundred heavy construction laborers and voted them without regard to residence or qualifications.

The United Grain Growers who were influential in having the investigation into grain trade stopped, during the summer have suggested a new enquiry, with Staples, one member of the Canada Grain Commission, who was also a member of the Royal investigating commission left off the commission.

According to George Lane the pioneer stockman of High River and Calgary, the province of Alberta has suffered a loss of over $20,000,000 in the reduction of cattle prices, following the signing of the emergency tariff bill by President Harding. This bill imposes a duty of 50 per cent on cattle imported into the United States.

Hatfield the rainmaker has signed a contract for next year with the farmers of the Medicine Hat district. He claims that owing to the location of this rainmaking apparatus, this season, a number of his artificial showers were blown over into Saskatchewan, so he is going to change his location next season, so the people who pay for the rain will not get all the showers. He is going into partnership with the winemaker, so the northwest winds will blow his showers over the Medicine Hat district.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Colvin and Miss Reta Coutts have gone to Calgary.

John Kennis was a Lethbridge visitor on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. B. Christie has gone north for a short visit.

Miss Mariel Murphy and Master David Murphy are guests in the Fishburn district for the present.

Mrs. Hetherington and Mrs. Buro, who were both reported as being seriously ill, are improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvor have been holidaying for a week at Elk Prairie returned home Tuesday night.

Miss Rosamond Blackburn and Miss Hazel Blackburn, of Fishburn, were visiting friends in Cowley for a few days this week.

Miss Rosamond Blackburn, of Fishburn, has accepted the position of teacher of Girls' High School and will open August 22nd.

Mr. Geo. Edgett has secured a school at Watt. We understand that he is practicing near Calgary until school opens.

Mrs. Margaret Kennis has accepted a position as stenographer with the West Canadian Collieries, Blairmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Littleton, spent the week end camping near the Gap.

In spite of the continued dry weather, grasshoppers and pesky insects reports of poor crops, a survey of the district by your correspondent discloses the fact that the crops on the average are 25 per cent better than has been reported.

The Cowley baseball team went to Pincher Creek for their closing game of the league schedule on Wednesday the 10th. They lost to Pincher 9-7, owing to having several subs playing. This decided the amateur championship of the Cow League, as it claimed that these two teams were the only ones playing strictly amateur ball.

CROPS LIGHTER IN THE U. S.

The final crop report of the U. S. agricultural department shows a decrease in the estimated yield on account of drought and other causes. The total wheat yield is now estimated at 77,000,000 bushels, oats at 1,157,000,000 bushels, corn at 3,032,000,000 bushels and barley at 1,000,000,000 bushels. Adverse conditions prevailed during July in the United States as well as in Canada.

THOUSANDS FOR HARVEST

About 16,000 harvesters from eastern Canada were cleared through the Winnipeg labor office this week. This contingent came entirely from the Maritime provinces and next week the Ontario and Quebec rush will begin. Many of these young easterners announce their intention of settling in the west.

IRRIGATED CROPS HEAVY

After a complete tour of the irrigated sections near Brooks, Duchs and Patricia a party of G. P. R. engineers announce that the results of irrigation in those districts have been entirely satisfactory this year. It is estimated that wheat is running from 20 to 40 bushels per acre while wheat on dry land just across the road is not high enough to cut. Some wonderful yields of alfalfa are also reported.

The Calgary Herald reports having received offers of advertising for business firms in Germany, who are aiming to secure Canadian trade. The German, at least, has the proper estimate of the value of advertising—Exchange.

A Bassano town councillor states that now that women have nearly equal rights with men, in voting, etc. they should pay a poll tax the same as men, thereby shouldering their share of the municipal burden.

LABOR FROM THE COAST

With 1036 men registered as unemployed in Calgary, there were, at the same time, 481 farm positions unfilled. Many of the unemployed refuse to work on farms. Owing to this condition of affairs another 1000 laborers from Vancouver will be sent to the Alberta harvest fields.

SPOKANE SHERIFF COLLECTS DOOZE

Sheriff Long of Spokane who estimated at the first of the year that fines and forfeitures of house peddlers would amount to about $20,000 during the present year, has already seized "boot" goods valued at $21,000, and only seven months of the year are gone. He has confiscated 40 stills, seized 840 quarts of moonshine whiskey, 4,000 gallons of mash, 1620 quarts of fancy whiskey, 1618 bottles of beer, 40 quarts of wine and 2 quarts of gin.

EDITOR LOST 777 DOLLARS

Editor L. D. Nesbitt of the Bassano Mail and Brooks Bulletin owns an irrigated farm adjoining the town of Brooks. He had an especially fine crop of alfalfa growing on a portion of the farm this summer and was advised by the demonstration farm experts to cut it for seed, as the crop would return him much more in this way than to cut it for hay. Victims of a new seven-passenger car, a diamond stick pin and other luxuries he sold through himself as he thought of it, but the hired man, not knowing much of scientific agriculture, cut the crop for hay and Editor Nesbitt has been busy ever since figuring out how much he lost.

Fifty members of the R.C.M.P. of Macleod barracks, under command of Supt. J. A. McDonald, are enjoying the month's vacation in camp at Waterton lakes near the international boundary.

ALBERTA A MELTING POT

The newly elected legislature of Alberta is the greatest mixture of nationalities of any parliament in Canada, it is said.

This polyglot parliament is the result of Canada's immigration movement during the past twenty years. On their arrival in Alberta as raw homesteaders, some years ago, many of these recently chosen as the people's representatives in a legislative assembly. Crude, uneducated, inexperienced, but determined and industrious, they have been whipped into shape by the varied experiences of pioneering. The rough, hardy, and hardy. The off by contact with hardships. Their credulity has disappeared in their trying circumstances. Their mingled characters have been enriched by the knowledge of empire building. Their minds have been broadened by looking out across the vast horizons of the west.

Today they measure up to any parliament in Canada. They have a vision of statesmanship and will guide the province to the right path.

Some from practically all the civilized countries of Ontario. They once spoke many tongues, but today they speak but one language, the Anglo-Saxon, and through its eloquent and forceful spirit they will write laws for Alberta which will perhaps go down in history as landmarks of progress and goodwill.

While other portions of the west complain of business depression Blairmore, and the Crown's West Fair in general, are enjoying better than usual business activity. There is considerable substantial building in progress, and pavilions are holding up to a good standard.

CANADA COMING BACK

The pessimists say that the winter ahead of us is to be the worst yet. They croak about short crops on portions of the prairies, vast herds of unemployed, adverse exchange rates and diminishing trade balances. But these pessimists forget the courageous spirit of the Canadian people, which have given manhood and backbone to this country. They forget the matchless resources which lie almost untouched between Halifax and Vancouver and between the Montana line and the Arctic, all of which belong to this adventurous and hopeful people.

There may be a few months of discouraging sailing ahead, and there may be obstacles to fret and vex the bravest, but CANADA WILL COME BACK.

Through these trying times of deflation and readjustment following the greatest war in history, Canada is making her way more successfully and more valiantly than many older and more well established nations. Her people are blessed with a peculiarly staunch brand of sanity and sense. Her resources are such as the world needs and must have as time goes on. Her lands, mines, forests, waterways—all will yield their colossal treasure to willing workers, once the world settles down to business again.

So let us not listen to the pessimistic croaker. Through all his boring monotonies can be heard the chorus of new men, filled with industry and happiness. CANADA IS COMING BACK.

Our landscape may be harried here and there by a streak of hail or a streak of drought, but such palsy happenings do not cause a ripple on this forward-flowing course of the nation.

Artificial financial ghosts no longer frighten us by adverse exchange rates over all these scarecrows of financial worry. Let us put aside the full-fledged run of Canadian progress and Canadian development, shining in hope and faith!

HATFIELD'S SUCCESSORS

The Medicine Hat farmers who paid Hatfield $5,000 for "making" four inches of rainfall in May and June, are of the type of men who made P. T. Barnum and Poni wealthy. Hatfield has the nerve of a hold-up man to take the money. He made no rain in Medicine Hat and collected on the natural rainfall. If he could have made a nickel's worth of rain why did he not do so in the torrid weeks when crops were burning up and every farmer in his district examining the barren sky from day to day?

The Mail has always contended that Hatfield has never proven to have a valuable service to the community. His scheme is on a par with the old gold brick and Spanish treasure chest. The world progresses and suckers are born every 30 seconds.—Bassano Mail.

The popularity of Blairmore and other towns along the Crown's West Fair automobile route is increasing every year. More foreign cars have left tracks in Blairmore's streets this year than ever before. It is a fascinating trip through this part of the west and every tourist who comes this year will carry a wonderful story of the grandeur and beauty of our mountain region.

Japan is now standing at bay with her right foot firmly planted on Siberia, her left foot on the Pacific coast of America and both hands clutching the throat of China. As long as the disarmament conference does not interfere with her present strange hold on the Orient, she will be willing to discuss disarmament, in the old diplomatic way.

As good farmers, the new Alberta government may be depended upon to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen, and to bring the shovel into the house at night, so they can dig out the horse if necessary. Or, in other words, it is hoped that they will watch Alberta closely, very close, with a view to reducing taxation.

GOOD WORK AMONG BOYS

Rev. W. T. Young of the Blairmore Union church announced during the service last Sunday evening that during the Tuxis boys' camp at Lee lake during the past three weeks, thirty-five boys ranging in age from 16 to 18 years, had definitely taken the pledge to stop using cigarettes. Rev. Young is highly pleased with the outcome of the summer camp for the boys and believes that the habit of using good will come from it.

LABOR MAN IN CABINET

While it has not been definitely announced, it is semi-officially given out that Alex. Ross, Labor member for Calgary, will be in the portfolio of public works in the Greenfield cabinet which will be announced the end of the week.

WOULD SELL ALL ROADS TO THE C. P. R.

Roche Laroche, M.P. for La Prairie-Mapierville, Quebec, in an address to the freight and passenger rights of the Canadian government railroads, says the Canadian people would be better off, under present circumstances, if they would sell all the government roads to the Canadian Pacific Railway company at a valuation of one dollar.

WILL SEED 8,000 ACRES OF RYE

According to an interview in the Lethbridge Herald, C. S. Noble says the Noble Foundation will seed 8,000 acres of fall rye on their Cameron ranch this fall. This is three times the acres sown last year. The yield of fall rye on this farm is double that of the wheat crop on the farm.

Gustave Stahl, a section foreman at Brexley, near Prince Albert, was shot and killed by an unknown assailant this week. Robbery was the object of the murder, according to police investigation.

Good money
Just to gaze
At such a vision
On the stage,
But to-day
There's no need
When you can see
Beauty like this Everywhere—
In the streets
In the trams,
No wonder
The theatre
Feels a draught
How perfect
In every way!
Not looks alone
But nature sweet
And voice divine
I bet.
Then I watched
Her rosebud-lips
As they parted,
I saw her say
To a friend,
"Ere, Liz,
Wen the 'ell
Is that there bloke
Blinkin' well
Goin' to stop'
Givin' me
The go 'guy' 'glad'
That is all—
Thank you.

Doing Better Here: "Aye," exclaimed Sandy, to his bored London acquaintances, "Scotland the finest place on earth!" "The what made you leave it?" asked a disgusted voice, "since you ask it so much?" Sandy chuckled. "Aww! It was like this. In Scotland everybody was as clever as me!" "I was," said Sandy, "but I couldn't mak' much progress. But here—" he chuckled again, "here I'm gettin' on verra weel!"

Mrs. Nellie McClung, the well-known writer and lecturer, who was elected to the Alberta legislature from Edmonton city in the recent provincial election, is the only woman delegate to the ecumenical council of the Methodist church which will assemble in London, England in September. She is the only representative of Alberta at the council, having been chosen at the church assembly last spring.

LONG HIKE IN THE ARCTIC

Corporal Cornelius, of the R.C.M.E., left Edmonton six years ago to search for a couple of Eskimo murderers on Herschel Island, in the Arctic. For six years he has been in the north, most of the time his only companions being the two murderers whom he captured. The Eskimos were tried and condemned, but later released upon decision of the department of justice. Cornelius returned to Edmonton this week, after having covered thousands of miles of exceedingly difficult travel in the north. When he left Edmonton six years ago the R.C.M.P. was called the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, but during his absence in the Arctic his organization has had its name changed.

"Look at me," the school inspector said to the children, "what am I?" The children looked puzzled, but at last one boy ventured to say: "You're a man!" "Quite right! I am a man. Now put an adjective before the noun. What kind of a man am I?" The answer came: "You are an ugly man."

OLD YUKONER PASSES AWAY

Many old timers in Blairmore, especially those who have followed the trails to the Yukon, will remember Con Van Alstyne, pioneer of Dawson, one of the unluckiest miners of the American continent.

News comes from Dawson City that Van Alstyne has been lost and is supposed to have fallen in a prospect hole or to have been devoured by wolves, while prospecting. He left his camp on Mission Creek several weeks ago for a prospecting trip about 100 miles north of Dawson and no trace of him has been found.

Van Alstyne discovered several of the richest mines in Alaska and the Yukon, but traded them off or gave them away, and if he is found - to have died on his last trip, he will pass out of life practically penniless, while those to whom he lentured his claims have made millions from them.

BURN ALBERTA COAL

Blairmore and the Crows' Nest Pass being a mining district, strictly, the following review of the coal situation in the west, taken from the Winnipeg Tribune, will be of great interest to our readers:

Soft coal coming on the Winnipeg market from the United States has a tactical advantage over soft coal coming from our own mines in Alberta. It is heavy and bulky freight coming from the east where not so much heavy freight originates, whereas our own coal comes from the west, where nearly all the heavy freight originates. Other things being equal, the United States coal is the cheaper to haul and the railroads will give it the preference.

Is it worth while to offset this advantage, and if possible, burn our own coal? There is one who will not answer this question in the affirmative. The reasons for burning Alberta coal in place of United States coal are innumerable. The Portney tariff is one of them, the rate of exchange is another, the value of the coal mining area as a market for Winnipeg products is a third, while the value to the development of our coal opens up so many avenues of possibility in Canadian intensive industrial progress that a book could be written on the subject.

Where soft coal can be substituted for hard coal with economy we should burn soft coal, and where we burn soft coal we should burn Canadian soft coal if we can.

OIL EXPERTS RETURN FROM FORT NORMAN

Concluding the most successful trip to Fort Norman, where they were able to stake out a number of locations, W. S. Dyer, of the staff of the department of geology, University of Toronto; W. D. Ogilvie and R. E. Henderson arrived in Calgary on Wednesday morning, having left Fort Norman for the south on July 19th.

All three are looking exceptionally well after their trip, despite a couple of months of rough living and hard traveling by motor boat and canoe. They are representing a number of Toronto capitalists in a syndicate named at present the W. S. Dyer syndicate, and are enthusiastic over the all prospects in the far north.

Mr. Dyer says that he believed that a huge oil-bearing field existed and that it had tremendous potentialities.

The town of Frank is coming to Blairmore at the rate of one house per day being brought in by Dr. Olivier and company. So far seven have been moved up and we understand that there are seventeen more to come for that company, making a total of twenty-four. Frank Baker, who is in charge of the moving of these houses states that there will in all probability be several more brought up for other people. One of the last ones brought up was placed on the corner east of the Central Union Church and will be occupied by the Rev. W. T. Young and family.

STUDEBAKER ROAD BOOSTERS IN BLAIRMORE

Studebaker Light-Six, which passed through Blairmore carrying a Transcontinental Road-Building Message to the Mayor of Vancouver.

Carrying a transcontinental road building message, addressed to His Worship, Mayor Gale, of Vancouver, urging him to use his influence in completing the transcontinental highway links in British Columbia, W. G. Palmer, sales manager of the Studebaker Corporation of Canada, Ltd., and M. P. Rigby, advertising manager, arrived in Blairmore Monday afternoon, enroute to Vancouver, where they expect to arrive Saturday noon, following many stops which they will make along their route. The Studebaker Light-Six Car they are driving because of its conspicuous lettering on its sides, attracted considerable attention while on the streets of Blairmore.

As the people in this vicinity are aware, it is necessary at the present time to ship one's car across Kootenay Lake between Princeton and Hope in driving across the province. It is to eliminate the necessity of such shipping that Messrs. Palmer and Rigby are making their tour, endeavoring to create interest in the building of an All-Canadian Highway to extend without a break between Halifax and Vancouver. Naturally this will tend to increase motor traffic through Blairmore.

The message bearers left Calgary July 11th, driving north to Edmonton, then east via Saskatoon to Winnipeg. From that city, they drove west, stopping at Brandon, Regina, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, and Lethbridge. All along their circuit of the Prairie Provinces, which involved some 6000 miles of travel, they have obtained the official signatures of the chief executives in the principal cities and the endorsement of the automobile clubs to the message they are conveying to the Mayor of Vancouver.

How To Compute Income Tax

The following article on "How To Compute Your Income Tax" was handed to us by one of our subscribers and we take pleasure in handing along the information to the rest of our family.

A simple and complete way of computing income tax—There need be but little trouble to figure out your income tax. In the first place it may be worked out by Algebra, Trigonometry and Syntax and then your answer may be correct and it may be not. If your income is $2400.00 per year and you have a diamond ring and an automobile and you are married to a brunette girl 28 years of age, you take the amount of your income and add your personal property, subtract your street number, multiply by your wife's height and divide by your telephone number. If you have a child in the family you subtract $300.00 from your income, add the amount of your personal property, multiply by your waist measure, subtract the size of your collar and your child's age, multiply by the amount you have given the church during the year and divide by the number of your automobile license (28). If there is a second child you deduct $200.00 from your income, add the weight and age of your child, divide by the date of your birth, multiply by the size of your hat and subtract the weight of your mother-in-law. After you get it all figured out you won't have to pay any taxes of any name or nature for they will have you in the lobby hatch and strapped down.—Ex.

Camping in Comfort

All the comforts of camping, with none of the drawbacks of having to prepare meals, etc., can be enjoyed during a visit to one of the Canadian Pacific Camps located on Lake Wapiti (Hector station near Lake Louise) or Lake Windermere B.C.

There appears to be some misapprehension as to these camps, for they do not consist of tents, but of big or rustic cabins for sleeping quarters, with a central Club house containing combination dining and living room and necessary kitchen facilities.
There is accommodation in each camp for fifty people and the locations are ideal for anyone wishing to enjoy a quiet holiday in the great outdoors, where hiking, riding, fishing, boating, etc., can be indulged in to the heart's desire.

How many of you who read these columns every week realize how much this newspaper is a part of your town? If a town where to check up its assets, chief among them would be its newspaper. It is the one common possession. No matter who owns the stock of the company that publishes it, or who sits in the editorial chair, the newspaper belongs to the people. What can a newspaper do for a town? It can do more than any one agency to ensure unity of purpose and advancement for the town. With it in thriving condition every industrial and social movement is assured of effective leadership. Without a newspaper a town is silent and dead, for silence, however golden, is lifeless.

A bill to prevent gambling in grain was passed by a large majority by the United States senate this week. It also prevents the operation of exchange and aims to do away with gambling in futures altogether.

Importation Of German Goods

The agitation of importers of German goods against the provision proposed in his budget speech by Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, that Canadian Customs shall disregard any depreciation in foreign currency greater than 50 per cent, was commented on in a recent interview with the Senior British Trade Commissioner, Capt. E. J. Edwards, of Montreal, with the remark that the prevention of imports of German goods at ruinous prices appeared to be just the aim in putting forward this provision. The German goods being brought in are, moreover, largely goods which are also manufactured in Canada, such as drygoods, felts, silks, etc., not to mention other things, such as cutlery, manufactured in the United Kingdom.

"In allied and neutral countries the belief is general that German banks and other financial interests are artificially depressing their rate of exchange," said Capt. Edwards, "with the object of preventing imports into their country, and assisting them to build up their export trade again at the expense of the allies."

"It is contended by these importers that prevention of German imports will increase the depreciation of the Canadian dollar, by forcing more purchases from the States. Fifteen months ago German imports only totalled $2,502, but a year later, in February last, the figure jumped to $522,737. For the 11 months ending February, 1920, German imports (from Canadian Government figures totalled $29,648, but for the 11 months ending last February they had made another enormous jump, to $1,395,380. Despite the jump, these figures are still insignificant against Canadian trade with the Mother Country of the States, and I cannot see how Canadian currency will lose in value because German goods are prevented from being dumped at artificially low prices. Such goods as Canada must import can be obtained within the Empire to Canada's better financial advantage than from the States.

"It seems to me it is a question of the Canadian public supporting their own and British manufacturers against German ones," said Capt. Edwards, "and I have no doubt as to their preference." Sir Henry Drayton declared that to prevent financial ruin Canada must purchase more of her own and British manufactures, a statement I thoroughly endorse, and I am sure he did not think it any wider to import German dumped goods than those of the United States. When Germany realizes the impossibility of exporting goods at sacrifice prices I believe she will quickly straighten out her financial methods, until her currency becomes normal and Canada, in common with other countries, can trade with her on a fair basis."

To Protect Livestock Trade

No Animal May Be Shipped out of Dominion Without a Certificate of Health.

The efforts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture to secure a clean bill of health for Canadian livestock have been unusually successful, it is asserted by officials of the department. "No animal, alive or dead, and no product made from the carcass of an animal, may be shipped out of the Dominion without a certificate of the Health of Animals Branch of the Department of Agriculture. These certificates have to be shown and verified both at points of departure and arrival.

War To End Officially

Setting of Date Will Mean Much to Business.

The date for the official termination of the war, except as regards Turkey, will be September 1.

Under the "termination of the present war act" the war could not be declared officially ended for Great Britain until all the peace treaties had been ratified, but it has been decided that the treaty with Turkey might be ignored. The last of the other treaties, that with Hungary, was ratified in Paris recently.

The setting of the date for the official end of the war will pave the way for the settlement of financial transactions outstanding between the Bank of England and the stock exchange and will mean much to certain lines of business.

The lease also provides that $5,000 must be expended on operations during the twelve months.

Equipping a Kitchen

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

Why not look over your entire kitchen equipment with a view to eliminating useless articles?

One woman told me that after an inspection such as I suggest above, she found that she was giving storage to seventeen disgracefully inadequate utensils—and that in a kitchenette.

Once you have decided on the dishes, you will find among the newspaper advertisements many high-class shops announcing business-stimulating sales for the scare days.

Every housewife has attempted to bake a layer cake only to find the pan just sufficiently large to prevent another pan being placed in the oven at the same time. This necessitates baking one layer at a time—not only a waste of time, but of high-costing fuel.

Since you cannot take your oven to the shop with you, the next best thing to do is to take a page or two from the floor of your oven with you. The merchant can readily fit the combination to it.

How about some of the new combination aluminum utensils. For instance, the little boy for boiling water may be quickly converted into a double boiler. Then there are triple saucepans. They fit in combination over the one gas-burner. By their aid one may cook potatoes and two other vegetables for the meal with the minimum expenditure of fuel.

Many shops are showing combination sets of knives for the home kitchen. Some sets include a small but effective cleaver for the bones that ruin the edge of the unfortunate knife. The spatula or palette knife, a limber knife so useful in removing the last of the batter from bowls or for flipping cakes, is a most useful knife about the kitchen. More than one vegetable paring knife is needed in even a small kitchen.

There are some excellent knife-sharpening machines. And they soon pay for themselves in sharper knives used in the joy derived from the use of a really sharp knife. Ask the clerk in your favorite shop to tell you the advantages of each variety.

Look over the materials for cook pots, enamelware of the first quality, and aluminum are still among the best liked. Buy only a few at first during replacement but buy the best. A well-equipped kitchen with useful utensils of just the right sort undoubtedly lightens the labor of getting the usual three squares a day.

Atlaswede Clover

New Variety of Red Clover Originated at Edmonton.

A yield of 10.6 tons per acre of Atlaswede red clover has been harvested on the University Farm, Edmonton, breaking all previous records for clover yields in Alberta. Atlaswede red clover is a new variety originated at Edmonton, and judging from the yields obtained this year, is very successful. At the rate of 10.6 tons per acre which was the green weight, there will be at least four tons per acre dry weight. The clover stood from thirty to thirty-six inches high and has a very fine stem and makes excellent fodder.

"I came home from France suffering from stomach trouble, shattered nerves and with my blood in such a bad shape my face was covered with pimples. Manitoba Beekeepers

Are Prosperous

Return of $1,500 In One Season From Thirty-three Hives.

The beekeeping industry is making rapid headway in Manitoba and the outlook for a large honey crop for this year is very bright. Beekeeping demonstrations are being held at different places in the province. In the Swan River Valley in Northern Manitoba, J. C. Dodge reports a return of $1,500 in honey in one season from thirty-three hives. A settler at Dominion City reports that from a stray swarm that came to his farm six years ago he now has seventy-six colonies and last year sold over two tons of honey at 35 cents a pound.

Settlement Within The Empire Is Urged By Imperial Conference

London.—At the meeting of the Imperial conference, the work of the Imperial shipping committee was overhauled and a suggestion to continue the committee under a royal charter was put forward and dropped in the absence of unanimity, it was learned here.

On the question of Empire news services the conference is understood to have contented itself with approving the resolution of the 1920 Imperial press conference at Ottawa on a reduction of press rates.

Among other subjects, the conference, it is believed, adopted an interesting resolution in the direction of an 'Empire conference of officials with a view to obtaining a uniform system of granting patents.

A series of resolutions dealing with settlement within the Empire were adopted, the South Africa delegates dissenting from the scheme proposed in view of the limited field for white labor in South Africa.

Will Not Join With Canada

Resolution Introduced in Jamaica Legislative Council for Confederation Is Rejected.

Kingston, Jamaica.—A motion introduced in the legislative council by one of the people's representatives urging confederation between the British West Indies and Canada, was voted down.

During the debate reference was made to the resolution introduced in the United States Senate last February by Senator Reed, of Missouri, inquiring whether Great Britain would be willing to consider the question of the cession of its West Indian possessions to the United States.

The representative declared that the people of these British colonies had no intention to become United States citizens and that the proposal made in Washington was resented. The opinion was expressed, however, that everything should be done to foster trade with the United States.

Serious Fires in New Brunswick

Harvesters Taken From Train to Aid Fire Fighters.

St. John, N.B.—Serious anxiety is felt by some residents of the district around Westfield, N.B., on account of the condition of the forest fires. Some of the residents have gone so far as to begin packing their belongings in case their homes should be in the path of the fire which is raging fiercely. Three forest fires, burning over a six-mile front, are menacing Westfield, Noreps and Grand Bay. The Canadian Pacific Railway has sent a gang of men from this point to help fire fighters. The railroad has also sent a squad of harvesters bound west to the fire zone.

St. John, N.B.—Over one hundred people have lost their homes and general property damage estimated to be over $3,000,000 has been caused by a series of big fires in various parts of New Brunswick during the past week. The fires are always burning themselves out because of the dryness of the buildings and the water shortage owing to the prolonged absence of rain.

Will Replace Obsolete Vessels With Battle Cruisers of Hood Type

Announcement Made That Policy Cannot Be Constructed As A Challenge To Other Nations.

London.—Discussing the naval estimates in the House of Commons, Lieutenant-Colonel L. S. Amery, parliamentary secretary of the Admiralty, announced that the four replacement ships the government proposed to build would be battle cruisers of the Hood type armed with 16-inch guns and designed to obviate the need of larger destroyers than at present exist. He declared to say how many guns they would carry on the ground that it was not customary to give such information in advance.

Contending that there was no element of challenge or provocation in this policy of replacing obsolete ships, Colonel Amery said it was simply a policy dictated within the narrowest limits and postponed to the very last date consistent with the empire's safety.

Alluding to the building programmes of the United States and Japan, Colonel Amery argued that the

Final Tribute To Caruso

Funeral of Great Italian Singer Held In Naples.

Naples.—The funeral of Enrico Caruso took place with great solemnity. From the royal church of San Francesco Di Paola, the cortege moved through streets lined with troops and vast crowds to the cemetery, where the body was placed in a vault. Services were held in this famous church by permission of King Victor Emmanuel. A great choir composed of hundreds of singers assisted in the high requiem mass.

There were innumerable floral offerings, among them a wreath from the city of New York. All places of business had been closed as a sign of mourning.

Eulogies were pronounced by the prefect of Naples in the name of the King and the government, by the director of the conservatory and by representatives of the mayor and the artists of the city.

The basilica of the church was draped with black and gold tapestries, some of them royal treasures of the former Kingdom of Naples. The body of the great singer lay on a catafalque in the centre of the structure, surrounded by hundreds of candles. The catafalque covered with black velvet and gold stood in a bower of flowers.

The expenses of the funeral will be borne by the municipality of Naples as a last tribute to a noted son.

Fear Revolution in Portugal

Lisbon Appears to be Centre of the Trouble.

London.—A Reuters' dispatch filed in Madrid states that following rumors from Vigo that a revolution had broken out in Lisbon, a telegram received direct from the Portuguese capital said extensive precautionary measures had been taken in that city. Troops had been brought in from the provinces and held in readiness, the dispatch added, but all was quiet in Lisbon and throughout the country. The troops in Lisbon are said to be confined to their barracks.

Name Armistice Day To Open Conference

Appropriate Occasion to Begin Discussion of Disarmament.

Washington.—Great Britain's willingness to accept any date the Washington administration might desire for the opening of the forthcoming disarmament conference has led to the definite suggestion of November 11, armistice day of this year, as an appropriate occasion.

The matter has been the subject of informal conversations and while no formal announcement was available at the State Department, it was learned that once assured of British acquiescence, United States officials will put the original suggestion of armistice day into definite form for all the invited powers and await a communication from abroad.

The French Government gets $50,000 a day out of the profits of one gambling casino.

May Reduce Freight Rates

Montreal.—That the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada will in the near future take steps to reduce the freight rates on Canadian railways, was the announcement contained in a letter received by the local board of trade from Hon. F. B. Carvell, the chief commissioner.

The Montreal Board of Trade recently addressed a resolution to the railway commission asking a reduction on railway freight rates commensurate with the 12 per cent cut in wages now in effect.

Starving Peasants

Going To Moscow

Hunger Stricken People Setting Fire To Homes.

London.—The hunger stricken people in the famine districts of Russia are setting fire to their villages before deserting them for other parts of Russia. Many villages are said to be abandoned.

It is also reported that great preparations are being made to deal with the masses of peasants now moving toward Moscow. Many tranches have been dug about the city, and much war material, including field guns, is installed.

Telegrams received at Helmsingford reports the Petrograd garrison has mutinied again.

Bush Fires Clear Settler's Land

Made Work of Removing Brush Moderately Easy.

Cobalt, Ont.—According to a settler along the main line of the Canadian National a few miles west of Cochrane, the recent bush fires there were not altogether an evil. The conflagration, while destroying his buildings and hay crop, made the work of clearing an easy proposition. "At present prices," the cost of clearing one acre of green brush runs close to $200, but after the fire, when the trees had been felled and piled, it cleaned up two and a half acres for $20. Generally speaking, a good burn allows the settler in moderate circumstances to go ahead and remove the brush, whereas it would be impossible to do so without a fire," the settler said.

Start Aerial Mail in Australia

Will Give Regular Service to Places Otherwise Inaccessible.

Melbourne.—The Federal Government has accepted the $250,000 tender submitted by Major Bradley, of the Australian Royal Air Force, for a weekly aerial mail service between Geraldton and Derby, covering a 1,200 mile stretch of wild country. This is the first official aerial post service in Australia, which will start at the beginning of October, and will give a regular mail service to settlements impossible to reach otherwise.

Railway Wage Question

President Hanna Opposed to Submitting Matter To Conciliation Board at Present.

Ottawa.—Claiming that the time is not opportune for the submission of the question of wage reductions, as affecting the employees of Canadian railways, to a board of conciliation, President D. B. Hanna, of the Canadian National Railway, has notified the Minister of Labor that he cannot agree to invoking the Industrial Disputes Act for that purpose. Mr. Hanna has pointed out that the agreement which the men have been asked to concur in is only tentative and is subject to revision. He suggests that if the usual meetings and conferences consequent upon permanent schedule adjustment fail to bring an agreement on the question, it might then be necessary to resort to some form of arbitration.

Baseball Players Not to Play Again.

Chicago.—None of the American League players who were acquitted of an alleged national conspiracy to throw the 1919 world series, has any immediate prospect of being reinstated to organized ball, according to a statement issued by Judge K. M. Landis, National Baseball Commissioner.

Stockmen Want Assistance

Free Entry of Stock to United States Is Urged.

Calgary.—The present conditions of the livestock industry in Western Canada was the subject of an address by C. W. Peterson, president of the Farm and Ranch Review, at an emergency meeting of the Calgary Board of Trade. The speaker pointed out that every person in Canada had a vital interest in the development of a successful livestock industry; it was the basis and foundation of the entire agricultural structure, he declared.

Mr. Peterson urged that immediate diplomatic discussions should be opened with the United States in order to secure for Canada free entry for animals and animal products. Even an unlimited overseas market, he said, could not for a moment be compared with free access to the Chicago market, which could completely absorb all classes of livestock. "We are facing an acute situation almost amounting to a panic," he said, "and immediate action is necessary to cope with it."

Rust and Saw Fly Harm Crops

Considerable Damage Has Been Done In Some Sections.

Ottawa.—Rust and the wheat stem saw fly have caused considerable damage in some sections of the western wheat fields, according to reports on crop conditions at the end of July. In some sections the anticipated yield has shrunk considerably owing to the hot dry weather, but at other points late rains have ensured a heavy yield. Crops will not be uniform, some sections having a bumper yield and others a disappointing one. Harvest is unprecipitatedly early owing to the warm and, in some places, very dry weather during July.

Greeks Get Warning

Advance on Turkish Capital Will Not Be Tolerated.

London.—The Allies have warned Greece that an advance on Constantinople by her troops, which are now engaged in war with Turkish Nationalists, will not be tolerated, it was categorically stated here.

Great Britain, it was declared, is maintaining strict neutrality between Turkey and Greece.

Italian-Canadian Steamship Service.

New York.—Shipping circles here have been informed that the Navigazione Generale Italiana-Line has directed part of its ships into a new Italian-Canadian service. This is said to be the first Italian line which has been established between Italy and Canada. The reason attributed for the move is that Italian navigation lines between the United States and Italy are having considerable difficulty in finding business for their liners at the present time, due to the enactment of the present United States immigration law.

Famine Condition in Russia

New York.—Russian horses, which numbered thirty-six million before the war, have practically disappeared, having been eaten by the famished population. It was revealed in Russian newspapers published in Moscow and received here by the American relief administration.

Meat had grown so scarce, more than a month ago, that it rationed only to hospital patients. Classes in Moscow University were dismissed because they were too weak from hunger to continue their work, the papers said.

The Life of Ne-Gua-nan-I-sew

By O-G-E-MAS-ES (Little Clerk).

(Copyright)

Such a handsome, good natured, bright young Cree Indian when he first traded with me in 1884 and very soon became fast friends and called one another Neashow, meaning brother-in-law, an Indian term of endearment. He camped at my house a number of times and was the delight of my young children, in fact he always had an interested audience of old and young when telling Indian fables of the beginning of things, most of which I regret to say I have forgotten. How the loon received its handsome coat and power of diving, and the beaver was very much in human powers of intelligence. In regard to the beaver it was a tradition amongst the Cree that at one time they were human beings, but having offended the Great Spirit, loss of speech and the human form was taken away from them. Then there was a history for the bear, wolf and worst of all criminals amongst animals the dreaded wolverine who is the terror both of the white man and the Indian trapper.

Neashow, at this time, so he gradually informed me, was very much in love with a pretty Indian maiden called Tannis, a daughter of the South Wind, and on his visits to my trading store I could tell at once if the course of true love had been running smoothly or not, by his good spirits or the reverse. It appeared there was a rival named A-ke-apenas who, though a good deal older, was much better off in this world's goods, and consequently appeared more to the young girl's mother. His appearance, however, did not appeal to Miss Tannis at all, as owing to the bursting of a gun his cheek bone had been broken which gave him a sinister expression, and further he was a dour natured Indian at the best of times, in fact a complete contrast to sunny tempered Neashow.

Mrs. South-Wind, however, like many mothers, was anxious to see her pretty daughter make a good match so there was the opposition of the parents to contend with. Tannis, however, finally brought matters to a show-down by telling Neashow if he was a man at all they must elope as she positively refused to consider marrying Broken Face, as the rival was commonly called. He came in and told me the whole story and asked what I would do under the same circumstances. Why, take the girl of course, was my reply. It was the height of the berry season and all the Indian women were busily engaged in picking and drying Saskatoon berries for winter use. The next week Tannis and Neashow were to steal away from her comrades and meet her sweetheart at a place selected, he to have two ponies there. Everything went off smoothly and some days afterwards the newly married couple paid me a visit. There was no wedding ceremony, my dear reader, as these were both Pagan Indians; simply living together made the

With the last baby they lost I had them camp close to my house when the child was about six months old, and after much persuasion made the mother wean the babe and bring it up on cow's milk diluted and some other infants food which my wife had procured. Alas, it all led to the same result, and when they both came into their years and their hair discoloured, their faces blackened, and literally in sackcloth and ashes, my heart went out to them in great sympathy and we wept together.

It is one of the saddest things to live close to a Pagan and witness and be unable to help in times of severe illness, when one realizes with the resources of civilization precious lives might be often saved. Not only when sympathizing with poor Neashow, but when my own family needed better food than I could give them. I took a vow and it was this: That if ever a town grew up in the vicinity of my land there were two things I would try and get built as soon as possible. First a church for the worship of the only true God, and then a hospital. I am thankful to say I have lived to see them both established.

Germans Will Help

Ready to Assist Transport of Allied Forces to Upper Silesia.

Berlin.—The French and British ambassadors and the Italian chargé d'affaires delivered to Foreign Minister Rosen, on behalf of their respective governments, the note asking the German Government to take requisite steps to facilitate the transport of Allied troops across Germany. The note declares that the situation in Upper Silesia might at any moment render the sending of troops necessary. It was learned later, on good authority, that the Foreign Minister informed the Allied representatives that the German Government stood ready to accede to the demand and would confer with the Minister of Communication regarding the transportation of the troops.

Caruso Leaves Fortune.

London.—Mrs. Caruso will proceed to the United States to look after her husband's estate, according to a Rome dispatch to the London Times, later returning to Naples to make her home there. Caruso, according to estimates in the newspaper, left a fortune of about $30,000,000 lire. At the normal value of the lire this would represent about the sum of $5,000,000.

Lays Eggs In Air.

London.—Two crates of valuable chickens which left Orpington, Kent, recently at 9 a.m. were rushed to the air station at Croydon to catch the 10 a.m. express to Amsterdam. At Amsterdam it was found that two eggs had been laid during the journey—the first case on record, it is claimed, of eggs having been laid in the air.

Want Ulster in Peace Plan

Causing Delay in Reply of Sinn Féin to the British Government.

London.—A dispatch from Dublin to the Press Association confirms the statement made in Dublin that the delay in the Sinn Féin reply to the British Government on the Irish peace proposals. It is stated that an attempt is being made to secure the adhesion of Ulster to the peace plan. The dispatch expresses the belief that, provided Ulster was disposed to accept the attitude of give and take, the Sinn Féin would be willing to accept the government's proposals.

The attitude of Sir James Craig the Ulster premier, says the Press Association, appears to be that he is prepared to enter the conference in London, but that until such a conference is held, Ulster is not disposed to participate in the present deliberations.

Three Men Killed.

Patterson, N.J.—Three men were killed and three seriously injured in the Standard Silk Dyeing Company's plant, when an extractor on a "whirl machine" used in drying silk, flew to pieces. The whirling apparatus sprayed the nearby workmen with hundreds of scraps of bronze and iron.

Sweden Wants Canadian Wheat.

Vancouver.—That Sweden is beginning to take an interest in Canadian wheat exports was evidenced in a letter enquiring into the possibilities of Sweden importing wheat from Canada, from Emanuel Cohen, broker, of Stockholm, received by the Vancouver Board of Trade.
